Rick Forney on Mitchell Aker: Mitchell is a very powerful, young pitcher that is starting to come into his own. I saw him two years ago at a Diamondbacks’ tryout camp, and he was very impressive. I also had the chance to see him throw two weeks ago in northern Virginia at a showcase, and walked away very impressed. His velocity at the recent workout was 94 to 96 miles per hour. Anytime you can add a rookie arm like that to your roster, you need to move on it.

Rick Forney on Kevin McGovern: I'm very pleased to announce the return of Kevin and Mitchell (Lambson). Both are very durable left-handers, and help us take a great step in the right direction in terms of putting together the starting rotation. I'm hoping both guys can provide us with 19 to 20 starts, while throwing 120.0 innings for our club. Kevin is very durable, he competes really well, and he wants to win. He cares about the team's overall success, and he's a warrior. He's one of our core guys that's been here the last couple of years. I'm willing to go to war with Kevin McGovern any day.

He's a winner and knows what it takes to win in this league.

Rick Forney on Parker French: I'm pleased that both Dominic (Ficociello) and Parker have decided to play for us in 2019. Parker will compete for a rotation spot, and I'm hopeful that we can get him throwing the ball the way he was back in 2016. Parker has good velocity and sink on his fastball, and I think he will keep our infielders quite busy.

Rick Forney on Christian Torres: He's got versatility in his game where he can start or relieve. He has the ability to throw more than one inning out of the bullpen. There's a lot of things that guy can do for you. He's a strike-thrower, and a young pitcher that's new to independent baseball. He had a really good run in affiliated ball. There's some arm talent there. We're just happy to have him be a part of our club.

Rick Forney on Mitchell Lambson: I'm very pleased to announce the return of Kevin (McGovern) and Mitchell. Both are very durable left-handers, and help us take a great step in the right direction in terms of putting together the starting rotation. I'm hoping both guys can provide us with 19 to 20 starts, while throwing 120.0 innings for our club. Mitchell does a really good job of adding and subtracting, and competes in the zone. He forces guys to put the ball in play, and when you do that, you're going to find yourself out there in the seventh or eighth inning quite a bit.
